SIX INJURED IN CRASH NEAR VANPORT, PA.

DOUBLE WRECK

Two Trucks and Two Motor Cars in Collision.

MIDLAND, Pa., Oct. 19.—Six persons were injured, one perhaps fatally, in a traffic crash in which two trucks and two automobiles figured, on the Midland-Beaver road, near the Dando brick works east of Vanport, at 6:30 o'clock this morning.

Dense Fog Blame

James Hood, Beaver, is in the Rochester General hospital with a fractured hip and possibly a broken back. Granville Phelps, Pierce Meixell, and John Okan, all of Beaver, and John Muschwick and brother, Edward, both of Vanport, were cut and bruised.

The accident occurred when a coupe driven by John Muschwick crashed into the five-ton, steel-body dump truck driven by Herman Hartley, of New Brighton, and owned by R. E. Fisher, Rochester. Both machines were headed toward Midland. The collision occurred during a dense fog.

Highway Patrol Investigates.

John Shoals, Beaver Falls, driver of a second truck, stopped in the road to investigate the crash, and his machine was struck by a roadster driven by Meixell and Okan. The two pleasure cars were badly damaged.

The double crash was investigated by the Pennsylvania state highway patrol.

Today

Jew, Catholic, Protestant.
Self-Reliant Rum.
Hard to Beat Oil.
To Improve Marriage.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

Copyright, 1929, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

ALVIN COOLIDGE, Governor Smith and the distinguished philanthropist, Julius Rosenwald, are selected to dispose of an $8,000,000 charity fund left by Conrad Hubert.

The man who left the money wanted it to be distributed "by one Jew, one Protestant and one Catholic."

No better choice could have been made than Coolidge, Smith and Rosenwald.

BUT why Jew, Protestant, Catholic? Why not three good, average Americans, regardless of their religious brand?

There is too much emphasizing of "Jew, Protestant, Catholic," too much dividing of political offices among them.

That was not the idea of the men that established this country.

GOVERNMENT prohibition enforcement made an interesting discovery capturing a well-organized bootleg fort on the highlands of New Jersey, near the Narrows, where the big rum ships came sailing in.

It was a well-equipped fort, with sawed-off shotguns, machine guns, pistols, searchlights and radios to direct rum vessels.

The government believes that this one bootleg institution did a business of $1,000,000 a week.

THE government seizure did not disturb bootleg leaders, well-trenched and self-confident. Their chief said to a reporter: "This is just a little incident. If you want to order a thousand cases of whiskey, I'll deliver it to you in 25 minutes. We'll be doing business in 24 hours, with our men at on hand."

THE strike of the teamsters against the big oil companies of New York is said to be collapsing. Oil companies say they have won the fight. Many men are returning to work.

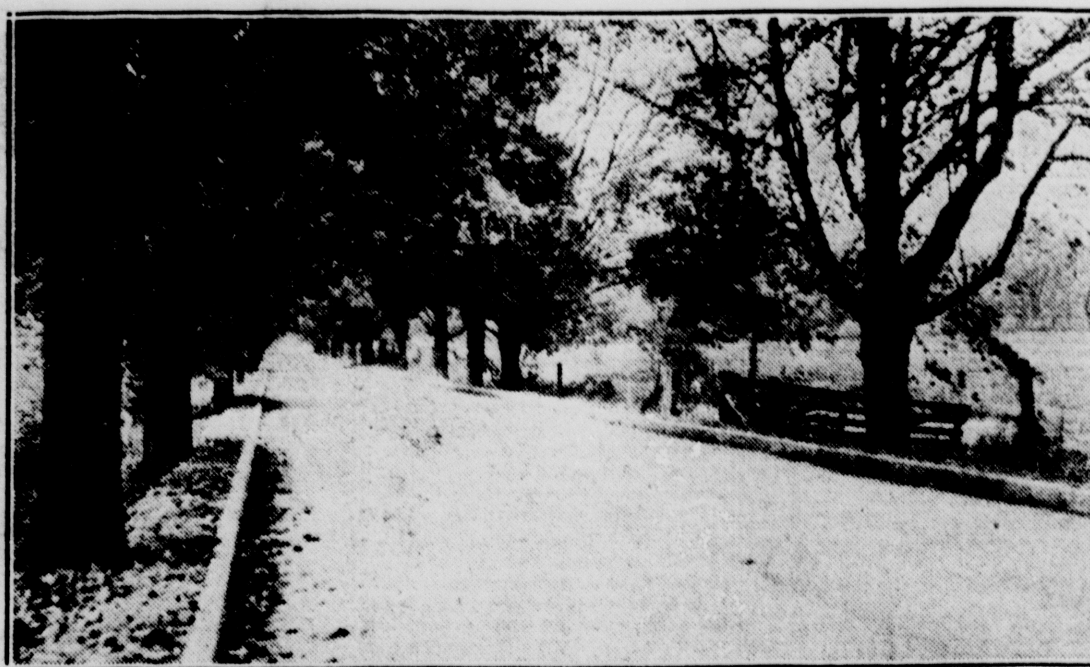

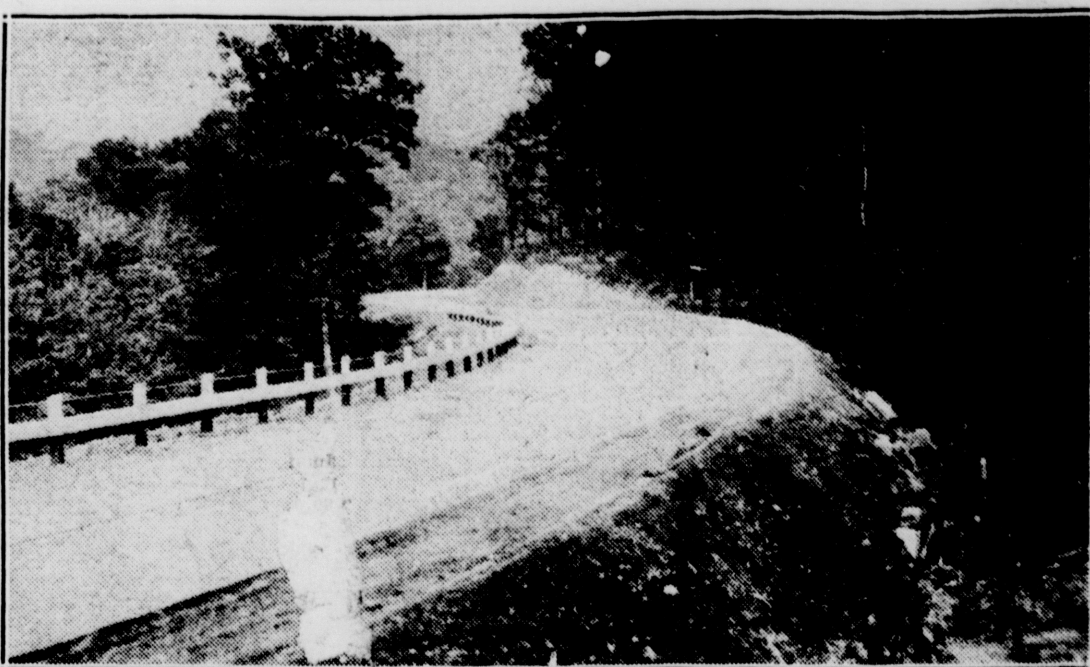

It is not easy for organized labor in these days to fight organized capital.

THE cost of living is high. It makes no difference to the oil companies whether they take in fifty millions of dollars more or less.

It makes a great difference to a teamster whether he takes in fifty dollars a week or nothing.

Scottish Clan Plans Unit Here

Steps looking towards the organization of an East Liverpool chapter of the Order of Scottish Clan, will be taken at a meeting of men of Scottish birth or descent, to be held in the Sons of Veterans' hall, East Sixth street, at 2:30 o'clock, tomorrow afternoon.

A. L. Bost

of the order, chairman of the extension department of the New Brighton, Pa., clan, will attend.

G. O. P. CLUB ENROLLS 100

Hospital Levy Wins Favor at Rally Friday.

Approximately 100 members have been enrolled so far in the Republican club which is being formed for the fall election, it was announced at a meeting of the Republican central committee and party workers in G. O. P. headquarters, Broadway, last night.

Plans for organizing each of the city's precincts to get out the Republican vote were discussed. Talks were made by R. B. Stevenson, majority nominee; Attorney W. S. Stevenson, nominee for city solicitor, and others.

Samuel B. Burgess, nominee for president of council and a member of the City hospital board, urged support of the proposed hospital levy.

Beginning Monday the headquarters will be open every day and night until after the election. Another meeting of the committee will be held next Friday night.

REV. DR. THROOP TO PREACH HERE

The Rev. Frank H. Throop, D. D., pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, of Columbus, will preach at a series of special services in the First Presbyterian church next week. The campaign will open with the Sunday night service, but the Rev. Mr. Throop will not arrive here until Monday.

The Rev. Mr. Throop is a former missionary worker, having spent 17 years in mission fields in Africa, Europe and Asia. He will discuss his experiences in one of his addresses. He will preach at the Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday night services and will also address the Kiwanis club luncheon in the Travelers' hotel on Thursday.

CARL SHOPE'S COUPE STOLEN

Ford coupe, carrying license number 479-020 belonging to Carl Shope, 1042 Riverview street, was stolen while parked in front of his home between 6 and 7 o'clock last night.

Charles Stull, employed at the Montgomery Ward & Company store, reported to police last night that a kit of radio testing tools, valued at $50, was stolen from his automobile while it was parked in Fifth street.

TEACHER KILLED IN AUTO WRECK

LORAIN, O., Oct. 19.—(INS).—Margaret Hess, 26, school teacher of Lorain, was killed today and Charles Nichols, also of Lorain, was injured when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into a telephone pole at Avon Lake Village, near here. Nichols was believed to have fallen asleep at the wheel of his machine at the time of the accident.

17-MILE ROAD TO PALESTINE SCENIC ROUTE

Commissioners' Clerk
Calls it "Highway
Of Maples."

$750,000 JOB

Part of Program Promised Under Bond Issue.

The new 17-mile highway, connecting East Liverpool and East Palestine, which was recently opened to traffic, was today christened the "Road of Maples," by L. H. Johnson, Columbiana county commissioners' clerk.

Traveling picturesque sections of St. Clair and Middlefield townships, it touches the highest point in the county near what is known as the Pancake farm, three miles north of Fredericktown. From there, on a clear day, smoke from the mills of Youngstown, more than 30 miles distant; Beaver Falls, 25 miles to the east; East Liverpool, 12 miles to the south, and Lisbon, 15 miles to the west, can be seen.

Another beautiful spot is about one and one-half miles south of the Pancake farm where the road borders the edge of a valley through which the west fork of Beaver creek winds its way. Motorists, attracted by the commanding view of the wooded hillsides and the winding creek, more than 500 feet below, park their cars to gaze at this scene. Particularly beautiful is the view now when trees covering the hillsides show their multi-colored leaves.

Job Cost $479,000.

The East Liverpool-East Palestine road is part of the program promised the voters of Columbiana county by the county commissioners when the $950,000 bond issue was submitted in 1925 and is among the last of the highways to be improved. This concrete, brick and macadam job cost approximately $479,000, exclusive of the section between East Liverpool and Calcutta and the four-mile stretch between Negley and East Palestine. With these two sections, which were improved many years ago, the road between the cities probably represents an expenditure of $750,000.

Movement for the improvement of the East Liverpool-East Palestine road was started many years ago by a group of farsighted business men from the two cities. When the Youngstown-East Liverpool highway through Rogers, Fairfield and Middlefield was designated.

MRS. PANTAGES CRITICALLY ILL

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 19.—(INS).—Death may preclude the necessity of Mrs. Alexander Pantages going before Judge Carlos Hardy for a hearing on her plea for probation following her conviction on manslaughter charges, it was revealed today.

The wife of the theater magnate is seriously ill with pneumonia, according to physicians. They pronounced her condition as "grave."

PASTORS WILL HEAR LEVY TALK

J. D. Thompson, member of the East Liverpool City hospital board, will urge support of the proposed hospital levy at a meeting of the Ministerial association in the Y. M. C. A. at 10 o'clock Monday morning.

The Rev. Warren O. Hawkins, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, will read a paper on "Pentecost."

Lima Jail Caruso Wins Stage Try-Out

William Watley Will be Given Opportunity to Sing Way Out of Sentence To Penitentiary.

BY M. E. MULLEN
LIMA, O., Oct. 10.—(INS).—William Watley, 23, dusky Caruso of the Allen county jail, will be given an opportunity to sing his way out of a sentence to the Ohio state penitentiary.

Watley will be given a try-out for vaudeville. Robert Bender, manager of a theater here, happened to walk through the passageway between the theater and the county jail.

Bender heard a voice singing in the jail. It was not the ordinary jailbird caroling. There was something in that voice, something which gripped and tugged at the heart. Bender listened.

—Ah! lonely, too, Sonny Boy.

Tear in Song.

There was a tear in the end of the song. Bender hurried up the steps to the side entrance of the sheriff's residence which adjoins the jail. Sheriff Ben S. Miller answered the caller's knock.

The theater manager inquired for the identity of the prisoner whom he heard from the alley. Watley, waiting to be taken to the Ohio penitentiary for non-support of a minor child, was brought out of the jail and was asked to repeat his rendition of "Sonny Boy."

He did. The chords of his throat swelled as he finished the song which has been made famous by Al Jolson.

It was hard for Bender to believe that a man awaiting a term in the penitentiary could sing "Sonny Boy" with such emotion.

"Will it be all right if I take Watley across the street to the theater for a workout with the orchestra?"

2,000 MARCH IN COLORFUL LISBON PARADE

Legionnaires Dedicate
John Welsh Post
Home.

AWARDS MADE

Congressman Murphy
And Vets Leaders
Speak.

LISBON, O., Oct. 19.—To the tune of martial airs played by eight bands and seven drum and bugle corps, more than 2,000 members of the American Legion, representing 23 posts in eastern Ohio and northern West Virginia, paraded here last night in a colorful celebration in connection with the dedication of the new home of John Welsh post.

The parade, held at 8:30 o'clock, was more than one and one-half miles in length, requiring more than half an hour to pass the reviewing stand in the public square. Department Legion officials and other guests, including six surviving members of the Lisbon G. A. R. post, headed the parade and also reviewed it. County Commissioner J. Howard Sinclair, Hanoverton, was the chief marshal.

The parade followed a banquet in the First Presbyterian church which 250 veterans, their wives and friends attended.

Prizes are Awarded.

Bands from Canton, East Palestine, Steubenville, Warren, Toronto, Weirton and Lisbon and drum corps representing Legion posts of Carrollton, Massillon, Warren, Niles, East Liverpool, Kent and North Canton took part in the celebration. The Warren and East Liverpool drum corps were composed of Boy Scouts. Guns of a National Guard artillery unit of Canton, drawn by four horses, also took part in the pageant.

First prize of $25 in the competitive drill for the best firing squad (taking part in rally) was awarded to Warren post No. 278. Second prize of $15 went to East Liverpool post No. 4, in command of Sergeant Samuel Farmer. Earl Richardson, Lisbon, and H. J. Kaufman, East Liverpool, were tied in the manual of arms contest, in which more than 35 veterans were starters. The two prizes of $15 and $5 were divided. Hugh Ramsey, former army major, was the judge.

George McBane post No. 21, of East Palestine, which had 41 members in uniform, was awarded the $25 prize for the post having the largest uniformed delegation in the parade.

Major C. C. Connell, Lisbon, toastmaster at the banquet, was introduced by Frank McGrew, commander of John Welsh post.

County Highway Detours Removed

All detours in Columbiana county except that of Route No. 7, the Youngstown-East Liverpool road in St. Clair and Liverpool townships, have been removed, weekly bulletin of the state highway department, issued today, says. The Petersburg-Foland road and a section of the Salineville-Carrollton highway are still closed by improvement projects. An overhead bridge is under construction on the Cleveland-East Liverpool road northwest of Salem. One-way traffic is being maintained on the Empire-Stratton road job.

NATURE CLUB VISITS CITY

Youngstown Delegation Inspects Newell Potteries.

Eighty-five members of the geological section of the Youngstown Nature club are in the East Liverpool district today for an inspection of the topography and incidentally to visit plants of the Homer Laughlin China company at Newell.

The party, traveling in two motor buses and privately-owned automobiles, arrived at the Diamond parking station at 9:20 a. m., where they were met by a committee from the Chamber of Commerce. The visitors were then escorted to Newell where they inspected the Nos. 6, 7 and 8 Laughlin plants.

Returning to East Liverpool at noon, they were entertained by the Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon in the main dining room of the Travelers' hotel in Fourth street. This afternoon they will go to Thompson hill for a study of the soils. They will leave here at 3:30 o'clock for Beaver, Pa., returning via Darlington, East Palestine and North Lima.

FOUR STEAMERS ARE DUE HERE BEFORE 6 P. M.

Canalization Celebration
Delegates Leave
Pittsburgh.

AERIAL WELCOME

Mayor and Chamber
Of Commerce Draft
Greetings.

Message of greeting from the city of East Liverpool and the Chamber of Commerce will be dropped to the decks of the Cincinnati, one of four steamers in the Ohio Valley Improvement association pageant, when it passes East Liverpool at 6 o'clock tonight, enroute from Pittsburgh to Cairo, Ill., in celebration of the completion of the Ohio river canalization.

Fliers to Drop Message. The message addressed to the 399 delegates aboard the steamer, will be signed by Mayor Ralph C. Benedum and President Joseph Betz of the Chamber of Commerce. It will be dropped to the boat by one of a squadron of four or five airplanes which will greet the boats at Dam No. 7, Midland, Pa.

The fleet of river craft will include the Greater Pittsburgh, excursion steamer, the Queen City and the United States Engineers' boat Swan. Arrangements have been made to send the Cincinnati, Greater Pittsburgh, and the Queen City through the locks at Dam No. 8 at the same time. The Swan will make the trip through the locks alone.

Because of the heavy fog overhanging the Ohio valley early today the fleet traveled at a slow rate of speed. The boats passed through Deadman's dam, three and one-half miles below Sewickley, Pa., at 12:45 o'clock this afternoon.

City's Greetings. The message which will be dropped to the Cincinnati, flagship of the fleet, follows:

"On behalf of the city of East Liverpool, it is our privilege to extend a cordial greeting to the convention of The Ohio Valley Improvement Association.

"We feel that the spirit and persistence of the men, who have promoted and followed to a successful conclusion this great water transportation system, merits the commendation of all true citizens.

Our city, in common with others along the route, recognizes the work of your organization and wishes to express interest and sympathy in its object and aims.

"We know that the future will justify the wisdom of the enterprise, the successful conclusion of which we today celebrate."

Miss Wasbuzky Delegate.

The airplanes will escort the steamers as far as Dam No. 8 at Kentworth. Factories of the district, particularly along the river front in both Ohio and West Virginia, have been asked to blow their whistles as the boats pass.

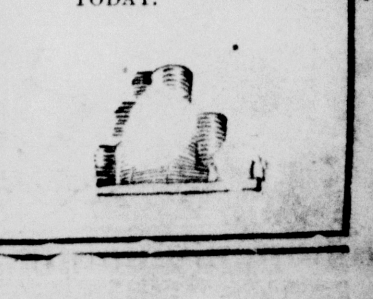

The steamers will make their first stop at Huntington, W. Va. President Hoover is to join the delegates at Cincinnati, Tuesday, accompanying them as far as Louisville, Ky. The trip will end at Cairo, Ill., next Friday afternoon, after the Cincinnati will have passed through 50 locks in the Ohio river.

Miss Eva Wasbuzky, assistant secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, is the only woman delegate aboard. She is representing the chamber as well as the city of East Liverpool.

MILK AND CREAM

Golden Star Dairy, East Liverpool, Ohio. Gentlemen:

Perhaps if there is one food product more than another that fundamentally adds greatly to the general nourishment and wellbeing of men, women and children, it is a pure good milk, and in your endeavors to distribute among your customers the excellent produce that you are giving them, I feel that you are, in a very real sense, a great benefactor of mankind.

My visit to the Golden Star Dairy was a revelation—the building and machinery are of the latest and most improved types, the pasteurizing is thorough and cleanliness is a prime virtue. It was proven to me that the farms from which Golden Star Milk and Cream are provided are under the constant supervision of an expert dairyman—thus a very low bacterial count, the main essential to a health producing milk, is always maintained.

The women, perhaps as never before, wakened up during the School to the benefits you are conferring upon them in affording them products of such genuine quality.

I consider it not only a pleasure, but a duty, to recommend the use of Golden Star Milk and Cream to every housewife in East Liverpool and surrounding territories, who is awake to the fact that "Health brings Happiness."

Sincerely yours,
MRS. FRANCES TROY NORTHROSS.

Christian Churches Call District Meet

Hancock County Will Be Represented at Convention in Wheeling on Monday.

CHESTER, W. Va., Oct. 19.—Pastors and leaders of Christian churches of Hancock, Brooke, Ohio and Marshall counties, West Virginia, and Belmont county, O., will attend a district convention Monday night in the Island church, Wheeling. Sessions will be held morning, afternoon and night. Principal speaker will be the Rev. Jesse M. Bader, D. D., of Indianapolis, Ind., whose theme will be "Witnessing for Christ." Others on the program are C. A. Burch of China, Miss Martha Ann Clark and Prof. H. N. Miller.

The Rev. Mr. Bader, who is secretary of evangelism for the United Christian Missionary Society of the Disciples of Christ, was formerly pastor of the largest Christian church in Kansas City, Mo. He has been engaged in evangelistic work for eight years, during which period practically a million members have been added to the churches of Christ in the United States. The delegates will be entertained

RECEPTION HELD IN EVANS HOME

Ladies' Aid society of the Bethel Methodist Episcopal church, near Chester, gave a farewell party and reception recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Evans for Mrs. Chester Jones, who plans to move to Beaver, Pa., and Mrs. Emma Ramsey and daughter, Mary, who will spend the winter in Florida.

An address was given by the Rev. Mr. Beggs, former pastor of the Bethel church, and now located at Conemaugh, Pa. The honor guests and the Rev. Mr. Beggs were the recipient of several gifts. Lunch was served.

State Trooper Named. S. L. Swesey, of Holiday's Cove, has been named a member of the state police by Harry L. Brooks, superintendent of the department of public safety. The personnel of the department consists of 185 men.

KNOTT FUNERAL HERE SUNDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Knott, 26, formerly of Chester, who died in Jennings, Va., will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the home of her mother, Mrs. Joseph P. Halstead, Second street and Carolina avenue, in charge of the Rev. L. A. Britton, pastor of the First Church of Christ. Burial will be made in Locust Hill cemetery.

Besides her husband, she leaves five children; her mother, Mrs. Halstead; six brothers, Lewis, Paul and Elzie Halstead, Chester; John Halstead, Hookstown, Pa., and Bernard and Lawrence Halstead, Hookstown, Pa., and a sister, Mrs. A. L. Strum, Chester.

THOMAS BRADEN, AGED 53, DIES

Thomas Braden, 53, nine miles southeast of Hookstown, Pa., died last night in the Mercy hospital, Pittsburgh, Pa., after two months' illness.

Funeral services will be held in his home Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in charge of the Rev. Paul McConnell, pastor of the Frankfort, Pa., United Presbyterian church. Burial will be made in Mill Creek cemetery.

Plan Concert at Bethel.

Concert will be given in the Bethel Methodist Episcopal church on Friday night, October 25, by the Log Cabin Harmony Four composed of E. C. Payne, leader; George Giles, tenor; F. C. Brown, baritone; John C. Payne, bass, and Leonard Payne, pianist.

MADAM CURIE ILL BUT HAPPY

GREAT BRITAIN proposes to bar from marriage the "mentally unfit." That might improve the human race, if you could identify the mentally unfit with certainty.

Some unfit will be exempt from matrimonial ostracism because they possess fortunes or important titles, or names.

Others mentally unfit will escape because they are only dull, belonging to the negative class that Dante put into one of hell's disagreeable compartments.

VISCOUNT AQUILAR, physician to King Alfonso of Spain, tells Chicago that the king "is in beautiful health because he has never been a man of regular habits."

He means that King Alfonso does not confine himself to any particular diet, which is intelligent. Man was made to cultivate the whole earth, and is healthiest when he uses in moderation the greatest number of earth's products, from the North to the South Pole.

Charles Fourier said that if a man could read his own palate he would find it to be a correct map of the earth properly cultivated.

France will not consent to reduction of her cruiser tonnage.

France will not consent to abolition of submarines, or even to the suggestion that they be limited in size to 600 tons. "The defense of France requires 2,000-ton submarines. Therefore, we shall build them."

The Italians have exactly the same idea, but they don't even take the trouble to state it. A few words from Mussolini will make that clear.

A REAL, heavyweight is coming, named Primo Carnera. This prizefighter measures 6 feet 10 from head to foot, and the steamship had to prepare a special berth longer and wider than usual.

That size is appalling, but David was little and Goliath was beaten.

SOLON said to Croesus, "Should any one come having better iron than you, he will be master of all your gold."

Similarly, the late Tex Rickard would say to Primo Carnera: "Somebody wearing a hat one size larger than yours may make you realize that mere size below the forehead, is not important."

OBSERVING signs of the unrest that sometimes leads to dangerous riots, the authorities of Joliet prison in Illinois immediately took measures "conciliatory and defensive."

Conciliations will do more than defense, for desperate men cannot

CROWD HEARS DR. V. C. MARTIN

"Ugly Beautiful" Emmanuel Church Sermon Topic.

To a large audience, many of whom were young people, the Rev. Dr. V. C. Martin, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Georgetown, Ohio, delivered a sermon on the theme, "The Ugly Beautiful," at the Emmanuel Presbyterian church, Park Boulevard, last night.

Members of the Boy Scouts and a delegation of pupils from the Maplewood school augmented the attendance.

Two sermons will be delivered tomorrow by the Rev. Dr. Martin in the series of meetings arranged by the Ohio Synod.

During the absence from his own church, his own members will have charge of the services on Sunday, he explained.

One week from next Monday, Oct. 28, the Rev. E. A. Walker, pastor of Emmanuel church, will go to Georgetown and remain there a week, including Sunday, Nov. 3, for a similar engagement in return for the series of meetings which Dr. Martin has held here.

"I was obedient to the heavenly vision," Paul's affirmation to King Agrippa while telling of his own conversion with the end of bringing about thought of the latter's doing likewise, formed the scriptural background of Dr. Martin's sermon last night. He put largely in story form the change that came into the life of Paul and what motivated it.

He compared Aaron Burr and Robert E. Speer, present leading Presbyterian because the latter is the only man who equalled the former in scholarship in Princeton university.

The youth plans to return to China to teach art, after a special course in an art school at Winona Lake, Ind., next summer.

John Yee, father of Pon, has returned to East Liverpool after spending more than a year with his family in Canton, China. He recently recovered from a long illness. He and his brother are associated in the laundry business at St. Clair avenue and Potters' alley.

be kept quiet, as shown recently in Colorado, even when rebellion means sure death.

THE best sort of "conciliation" would give men in prison work to keep them busy at fair pay to help their dependents, or be given to them when they leave prison.

The difficulty is to find work that will not interfere with men that have done nothing to put them in jail.

Road building, that would not be done unless by prison labor, might be a good solution, except that it exposes convicts to the public eye, and the sight of men working with armed guards over them is depressing to the public.

No Tax Boost, Auditor Says

County Auditor Elmer E. Walker's letter to the trustees of the East Liverpool City hospital, pointing out that the total tax rate here next year will not be higher than the bill paid last June if the proposed three-fourth mill levy is sanctioned at the November 5 election, should add many votes in support of the program to enlarge and improve the West Fifth street institution.

"I feel at this time I can give you absolute assurance that should your three-fourth mill levy be carried at the November election, the total tax rate in your city will not exceed last year's rate," is the direct statement made by the auditor who has made a study of the rates for 1928 and 1929.

And one reason for this situation is the fact that the two-mill road levy, which has been in effect for 10 years, was liquidated when the June taxes were paid. Consequently, no additional levies can be put on the bill without a vote of the electorate.

In order to give East Liverpool improved hospital service, the trustees of the institution have asked property owners to contribute 75 cents a year on each $1,000 valuation. For five years, the period of the proposed tax, it would be but $3.75 on $1,000 valuation, or scarcely more than the cost of a train ride to Pittsburgh.

Vote for a hospital to meet East Liverpool's needs.

What Is a Hobby?

Two citizens drifted to the subject of hobbies and one, man of high mentality, remarked that his favorite avocation was reading. His listener immediately remarked that he likewise was a great reader. He enumerated several popular books which he recently had read, and was surprised to hear his friend reply that he had never read more than four books of pure fiction.

"I read for enjoyment," he stated, "and I cannot enjoy reading anything that is not sufficiently informative to make me remember what I have read. If I can glean something from a book, and preserve it for future application I regard that book worth while. But even as an avocation, reading must provide me with something tangible, something enduring, before I can consider it worth my time."

Such philosophy is not intended to encourage persons to discard their golf, their dancing, or the amusement they derive from theatrical entertainment—a few of the activities so commonly heard classified as avocations. But when hundreds are constantly drifting into varied forms of amusement, believing that their greatest source of pleasure is therein only to eventually emerge still seeking a pastime which will prove enduringly entertaining, one pauses to determine what a hobby really is intended to provide.

If the act of swinging a tennis racket for a few hours each day may be termed an avocation there is nothing to contradict the theory that any other pastime is a hobby.

Sounder logic seems to tell us that true avocations are, like those of the gentleman who demanded a recompense from his perusal of books, those which present a definite challenge and incite constant activity in the minds of those who adopt them.

Service, embodying constant, constructive movement, might prove a fair generalization of all avocations.

Testing Submarines

While the majority of us in the United States were giving our attention to the world series last week, the American navy added a chapter or two to the record of submarine tests it has been making near the Pearl Islands in Panama bay.

To test the rescue facilities of the U. S. S. Mallard the submarine S-16 was sunk in the bay. Within an hour, the Mallard having located the submarine by oil on the surface of the water, a diver went down and not only attached to the submarine air lines and an air hose through which fresh air was forced under pressure to the living compartments of the undersea vessel, but also passed tinned food into a special receptacle in the submarine from which they were taken inside by the crew. The ballast tanks were then blown empty and the S-16 came quickly to the surface.

The day following the S-14 made a special submergence test, reaching the very exceptional depth of 234 feet and six inches, at which depth every square inch of the vessel had to withstand a water pressure of 90 pounds. During each of the tests the crew of the undersea vessel was in constant communication, by the tap system, with the Mallard.

In battleship strength we are decidedly second to Great Britain. We fall behind the British also in aircraft carrier tonnage, and are outclassed over four to one in cruisers by the British and over two to one by Japan. Our vessels of the destroyer type, such as they are, exceed in tonnage those of both Great Britain and Japan, but in submarines we have real preeminence over either, and it may be said that they are exceptionally well officered and manned. It's the one division in which our navy easily leads those of the two nations with which we are most closely grouped in naval strength.

HASKIN LETTER DAILY

By Frederic J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 19.—The basic iron and steel industry of continental Europe is showing as marked a recovery from the period of depression as Great Britain's and it is not out of the question that American steel producers may soon begin to feel much keener competition from abroad than they have in the years since the war. One of the sensational stocks of the American stock market carnival has been United States Steel and its rise has been in part due to its enormous business. Other steel stocks, too, have risen but United States Steel is the leader. All have enjoyed remarkable business, both domestic and export, and continue to do so.

In the past, British and continental steel have entered our home market and may do so again but it is in the foreign trade that the greatest effect will be felt. American steel exporters, in view of the European recovery, will find that they must fight to maintain the markets they have developed abroad, especially in South America. Prices will have to be watched sharply and bidding will be close, particularly in view of the fact that Latin Americans unquestionably prefer to deal with Europeans in almost every line, if the price is right.

In spite of an increase of 2 shillings 6 pence a ton in the basic price of pig iron, the British steel industry passed the dull summer season with scarcely a perceptible slump and with autumn there is increasing demand. But the continental revival is having its competitive effect on Great Britain too.

The German struggle to rehabilitate the vast steel-making machine which had made it possible for Germany to arm herself as no nation ever had been armed before, has been watched by the whole world ever since the breakdown which ended the war. That rehabilitation has been slow but steady. Finance was a handicap but the people of the United States assisted materially in overcoming this by buying German steel companies' bonds to the extent of $113,000,000 in the last four or five years. In fact German steel companies have been the third heaviest German borrowers in this country since the war, the banking and public utility businesses only exceeding them.

To bring the matter up to date for a close view, the pig iron industry for the four months prior to August last had shown a gain each month over the preceding one. This is notable, as in Great Britain, the summer normally is a depressed period. Not until August was the chain of rising pig iron production broken. Last July production was 1,293,519 tons while August dropped to 1,167,809 tons. But it should be noted that the drop was not truly significant in that even August production exceeded that of the previous May or June. Steel production, naturally, followed the course of pig iron, dropping from 1,468,872 in July to 1,401,707 tons in August, the August figure still remaining higher than earlier months of the year.

It is interesting to note, however, that while there was a total net reduction for August, some lines showed increases. Heavier steel, including ingots, fell off but lighter manufactures, including bars, rods, and angles, gained.

The Italian industry, which took a decided spurt under the Fascist regime soon after the close of the war, is beginning to feel the need for renewed effort. It has become somewhat disorganized due to irrational competition and in no condition to hold its own against the rejuvenated industries of England and Germany. The Hungarian industry is gaining ground in a thoroughly satisfactory manner. The first six months of 1929 shows pig iron production of 181,329 tons compared with 136,857 tons during the first half of 1928. For steel production the figures are 241,440 tons compared with 223,500 tons for the first half of 1929 and 1928 respectively.

Building construction at home is the principal reason for these important gains in the various countries, as well as demand for buildings in foreign markets but an additional impetus has been given to demand for iron and steel this year by increased production of machinery.

Questions and Answers.

By Frederic J. Haskin.

Q. Who coined the expression "naked as a needle?" P. J.

A. The simile "naked as a needle" is taken from the writings of William Langland. In its original form the word, needle, is spelled needie. There are few articles so devoid of adornment as a needle. It seemingly affords an excellent opportunity to coin a simile.

Q. What is a punchon floor? C. P.

A. It is a floor made of logs sawed in half, with the convex sides down, and the flat sides up.

Q. What is poppy seed used for? H. S.

A. Ancient Greece used it to season bread. Persians sprinkled the seed over their rice and in India it is still used as a food and a sweetener. In France, the seed is used in making seed to season breads and pastries. It is also used for a bird seed.

Q. Please give a list of national flowers. M. H. R.

A. Those found listed are: China, lotus; India, sacred lily; Egypt, lotus; Japan, chrysanthemum; Spain, pomegranate; France, fleur de lys; Germany, kaiser bloom; England, rose; Ireland, shamrock; Scotland, thistle; Switzerland, edelweiss.

Q. When did Alla Nazimova come to this country? How old is she? F. F.

A. She came to America in 1905 with a Russian company and was born in Yalta, Crimea, Russia, in 1879.

Q. Has Hudson's Bay many harbors? R. C. T.

A. Port Churchill, at the mouth of the Churchill river, is the only good harbor available in Hudson's Bay. It is a terminal of one branch of the Canadian railroad.

Q. Who was the donor of the Art School of the John Herron Art Institute in Indianapolis? G. E.

A. The donor's name remains unknown and is not to be announced.

Q. How is Socony pronounced? R. T. D.

A. This word, coined from the initial letters of Standard Oil Company of New York, is pronounced with the o's long and accented on the second syllable.

ANNIE LAURIE'S TIMELY ADVICE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl 18 years of age and until eight months ago was kept steady company with a boy whom I love very dearly. My parents objected to him because he was of a different religion than I, so I quit going with him telling him the reason. I see him quite often now but he does not speak to me. He is engaged to another girl. I know the boy felt bad when I quit going with him because he told me he loved me and proved it by asking me to accept an engagement ring. Recently I was going with a boy, and my parents like him very much. I also like this boy but when I am with him or any other boy I'm always thinking of the first one. I tried to forget him and it seems I can't.

Please advise me what to do or how I can forget this boy. Thank you.

BROWNIE: Surely you must know that your parents have your best interests at heart and that they want you to be happy. If they approve of your new friend and you also like him, I feel sure that everything will arrange itself nicely. Time heals all sorrows and wounds.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a stenographer in a downtown office. I am 22 years of age and fairly good looking. I have a few girl friends and no boy friends. I attend a dance once in a while. Should I at the age of 22, even though I have no boy friends, could you advise some way of acquiring boy friends outside of dancing. Your early reply will be appreciated.

INQUISITIVE SUE:

INQUISITIVE SUE: No doubt there is a social club connected with your place of worship. If so join it, for there you will not only make friends with a fine congenial group of boys and girls. You are young and life, with its opportunities and interests lies before you.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Journalism seems no longer the peaceful profession in New York it used to be. For some reason is has curdled and many of its practitioners mistake bitterness for wit. The attitude toward one another has become a high-nosed yan, yan, yan. And a laugh from the teeth out!

As one of the pioneers in the trade of writing a daily article about life in New York, I notice the newcomer in the field tees off by handing me a columnar clout. Of course, I enjoy it. It balloons the ego and all columnists, for reasons that elude one, are egotists.

Certainly few have been more energetic in welcoming the newcomer. I have launched three—two with fair success—in direct competition to my trivialities. And I have tried to cheer others along the slippery trail. Yet several seem resentful. I should continue to try to keep the wolf from whelping on the door step.

With a little more seasoning all will realize none of us writing columns is doing anything very important. The stuff we write is forgotten in an hour. And somewhere in a journalistic college or chasing items up and down Main street is a potential columnist who will receive tomorrow's plaudits.

Nothing about the work of myself or other contemporaries will cause the world suddenly to pause—and turn over. It strikes me all of us are receiving an extraordinarily fine break to be paid so well for what we do. Columnists who imagine they are celebrities are kidding themselves.

If they quit writing a column, they are forgotten the next week. In other days in New York there was a fine fellowship among newspaper writers. They carried a trumpet instead of a hammer and fairly frothed enthusiasm for the other fellow. Today they snap into a huddle in speak-easies to sneer at the outland one who does not find such nose thumbing. Even the "scoop" is passe. Newspapermen pull together and express the same cordiality that existed when George Ade, George Barr McCutcheon, Bert L. Taylor, and a half dozen others were making real journalistic history. New York needs a dash of that spirit.

The same bank offers illuminating figures on the value of strain to accumulate the first $1,000. Out of 100, interviewed at random, who had saved $1,000, 85 had become more consistent savers ever after.

But perhaps the most compelling argument for thrift in the bank's brochure is the statement of a big manufacturer that 19 of the most highly paid and important executives of his organization are steady savers. That should make us wretches think. But it won't!

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention is Worth a Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

If you can't sleep there will be plenty to tell you "it's your conscience bothering you." That may be so in some cases, but I doubt that this is universally so.

Insomnia is a common complaint. There may be occasions when a troublesome conscience is responsible for it. In most cases, it may be traced to some mental, intestinal or digestive disorder.

To my mind there is no more distressing condition than inability to sleep or disturbed sleep. All the disagreeable and disappointing events of the day or week pass and re-pass in rapid review during the long night hours. The problems of tomorrow seem to grow bigger and bigger. Any aches or pains you have forgotten during the day become unbearable. So with thoughts like these for companions during the sleepless hours, you become entirely unfitted for the work of the morning.

To enjoy good health one must have plenty of sleep and good nourishing food served at regular intervals. To this must be added exercise, diversion and agreeable social contacts.

Few people after reaching middle age can eat late suppers without suffering some ill effects. Indigestion, heart-burn, insomnia and constipation are all apt to result.

I really believe that most cases of insomnia are due to digestive disturbances. If you will sit down and take account of your own experiences you will agree with me. Ask yourself these questions: Did you eat your dinner at a late hour? Was the food excessively rich? Did you eat a second portion of that delicious dessert? Did you drink too strong tea or coffee just before retiring? Have you given your mind a rest and change of thought? Did you go to bed while still seething with some outburst of temper? What about the condition of the bowels?

These are a few of the things to think about. Some persons read wild detective or murder stories and wonder why they do not sleep. Insomnia is usually the result of improper care of the body functions. To be sure, there are many cases due to more serious causes. Long continued illnesses, mental and nervous breakdowns all have insomnia as a symptom. But today I am concerned with the simple case.

Lack of exercise and the living of a sedentary life have the same result. Mental work done late into the night makes it difficult to calm the mind and body for sleep. A glass of warm milk or cocoa, beef tea or malted milk often has a soothing effect. A tepid bath followed by a brisk rub is also good. Review your habits and correct those that need it. Not only will you sleep better, but you will live longer.

When Fritz von Opel roared through the air for a mile and a quarter in the first flight ever made in a rocket-propelled airplane, he presented a picturesque contrast to another rocket which astonished Europe just 100 years ago. The performance of the earlier day was that of the locomotive designed by George Stephenson. It was named the "Rocket" because of its ability to thunder along at the stupendous rate of twenty-six miles an hour.

Its doubtful if even the most sanguine observers of that time could have envisaged the developments which were to follow in the subsequent century. Stephenson's "Rocket" demonstrated a working speed of three times greater than the experts estimated was possible. It laid the foundation for satisfactory railroad operation in England. Today it is a prized museum possession and a reproduction of it has just been made for Henry Ford's industrial collection.

How difficult it must be, then, to properly assess von Opel's flight. It is a performance which seems at present to be both hazardous and impractical. But it presents a method of proportion that undoubtedly is capable of important refinements.

Some of the experiments in this field seriously discuss the possibilities of using rockets to shoot mail across the Atlantic in thirty minutes. They already are well on the way to the development of a rocket fuel which eliminates the danger of fire. Radio may some day solve the problem of directing the rocket in flight, while parachutes can readily be designed to enable it to land properly. It may sound fantastic, but so was the thought of the transatlantic railroad or the transcontinental air mail service one hundred years ago. —Christian Science Monitor.

"VITALISM"
SERMON THEME

Rev. Theodore Elsner
In Nazarene
Pulpit.

"Because too few in them have the experience to make them realize that of which they are talking is the cause for many churches being inactive and ineffectual," declared the Rev. Theodore Elsner, evangelist, of Brooklyn, N. Y., at the First Nazarene church last night. His subject was "Vitalism."

Though it was but the second service of his engagement here, the altar was lined with supplicants.

An evangelist of 10 years experience in this country and Canada with a period spent in Mexico also during his 14 years of actual ministerial labors, the Rev. Mr. Elsner will speak twice here tomorrow. His morning theme will be "The Miracle of Transfusion," and that of the evening, "The High Cost of Living."

Last night he spoke of the beauties of nature in various parts of this country. "But these wonders avail little unless one has the experience of seeing them," he explained. "In a similar manner religion is futile unless it is experienced. To talk of what has not been experienced makes for an unreality that in time becomes very apparent."

"Vitalizing is the word which expressed what Christ and His apostles preached and practiced. And because too few have experienced it in churches today makes for the delay and handicap of bringing about God's kingdom on the earth."

CITY SCHOOLS
PLAN HOLIDAY

Teachers to Attend
Cleveland Zone
Meeting.

Whether the East Liverpool public schools will be closed next Friday for the annual convention of the North Eastern Teachers' association at Cleveland, depends upon inquiries which Superintendent H. G. Means is making among teachers.

The board of education has authorized the closing of the schools for the day if a majority of the teachers wish to avail themselves of the opportunity to attend the convention. Teachers will be placed upon their honor to attend the convention in the event a holiday is ordered.

Superintendent Means has been given a place on the program at the annual meeting of the Eastern Ohio Teachers' association which will be held at Zanesville, November 1 and 2. East Liverpool is in the eastern district, but local teachers usually attend sessions of the North Eastern district.

"WORDS, MUSIC,"
CERAMIC BILL

The younger generation comes into its own in "Words and Music," all talking, singing and dancing Fox Movietone musical revue which will be heard and seen at the Ceramic theater, Monday.

Principals, bit players and chorus—all are either in their teens or early twenties, and the dash and enthusiasm which they put in their performance proves they are the types best adapted for this style of audible screen performance.

David Percy, whose baritone voice and all around ability won him high praise when he made his screen debut in the "Fox Movietone Follies of 1929," plays the leading role opposite Lois Moran, Percy, in "Words and Music," is Phil Denning, collegian and embryonic song writer, and Lois' chief suitor in the romantic story of campus life.

Miss Moran is leading lady, playing the role of Mary Brown, belle of Darnell College. She sings, talks and dances.

Other well known players in the cast are Helen Twelveteens, Elizabeth Patterson, Frank Albertson, William Orlamond and Duke Morrison. In addition there is a dazzling array of campus beauties and handsome young undergraduates, and a chorus of the pretty dancing girls.

SONG WINNERS IN "ILLUSION"

Three song hits, "Illusion," "Levee Love" and "Revolutionary Rhythm" provide the melody background for Paramount's all-talking picture of the life of troupers who move in the circles of high society. "Illusion." It comes to the State theater on Monday.

Fred Coots, Larry Spier, and Sam Coslow wrote the music for the number "Illusion." Sam Coslow penned the lyrics.

Both the lyrics and music of "Levee Love" and "Revolutionary Rhythm" were written by Fred Coots, Lou Davis, and Larry Spier in collaboration.

Charles (Buddy) Rogers and Nancy Carroll, the lovable young pair who performed so harmoniously in "Close Harmony" sing the three numbers in the new picture.

"HOLE IN WALL"
AT AMERICAN

Claudette Colbert, one of the most popular young leading women on the Broadway stage, has been cast for the principal woman's role in the Paramount all-talking mystery film, "The Hole in the Wall," which comes to the American theater Monday.

The cast of this gripping play of super-crooks and their methods includes the names of many others notable on Broadway. Among them are Edward G. Robinson, as the principal heavy, David Newell as leading man, Louise Closser Hale, Barry Macollum, Donald Meek, Alan Brooks, George McQuarrie, Katherine Emmet and Nelly Savage.

Robinson gave notable stage performances in the stage versions of "The Racket" and "The Man with Red Hair." Newell has appeared with Ethel Barrymore and other famous actresses.

"The Hole in the Wall" is an adaptation by Pierre Collings of a play presented on the Broadway stage about seven years ago. It centers around a gang of criminals who employ the aid of a medium and spiritualistic means to gain their ends in a gigantic crime ring.

"Trim About The Home"

PATTERN 1651 The Review 15c Practical Pattern

A house dress that is unusually smart yet particularly easy to make, is sketched today in Design 1651. It opens out flat like a coat, making laundrymaking very simple. The finished collar is mannish and chic; the cuffs and belt are trim and neat looking. Pearl buttons are attached to give a double breasted effect.

The nurse or professional woman like this model fashioned of white linen. For household duties, Design 1651 may be developed of plain or printed percale, gingham, rayon or wash broadcloth.

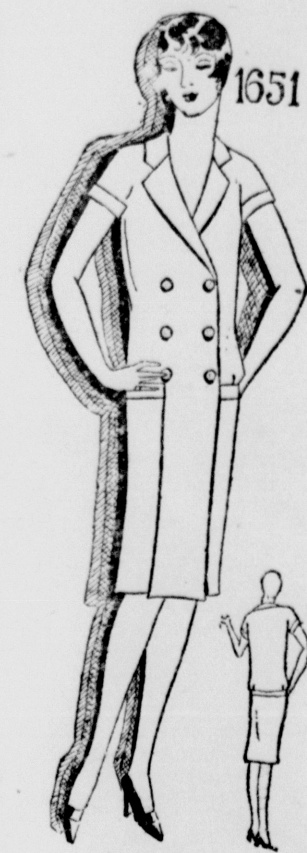

May be obtained only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32 and 44.

Size 36 requires 3 1/2 yards material 36 inches wide.

This model is easy to make. No dressmaking experience is necessary. Each pattern comes to you with simple and exact instructions, including yardage for every size. A perfect fit is guaranteed.

Patterns will be delivered upon receipt of FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins carefully wrapped or stamps. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE wanted.

THE FASHION BOOK is FIFTEEN CENTS, but only TEN CENTS when ordered with a pattern. Address all mail and orders to The Review Pattern Department, 243 West 17th Street, New York City.

150 ATTEND LODGE PARTY

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY guests attended a Halloween party held by Friendship lodge, Star of Bethlehem, last night.

The party was held in the Ingram building, Sixth street. The guests included families of the members.

The hall was decorated with a color scheme of yellow and black. A novelty dance was given by Betty Moore, who, with Clara Beard, received trophies for the best children's costumes. Mrs. Ernest Buck and Mrs. Bertha Jones were also awarded costume honors.

Refreshments were served by Miss Janet Hardie and her committee.

Tsugani Club Entertained.

Tsugani club members were entertained Thursday night in the home of Mrs. Ray McShane, West Fourth street. Games and music were diversions. Trophies in contests were awarded Mesdames Harrison Mace and Robert Smith. Vocal selections were given by Mrs. Harry Price.

Refreshments were served in the Weaver tea shoppe.

A masquerade party will be held next Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Edwin Kountz, West Second street.

Mrs. C. C. Green Visits Here.

Accompanied by her youngest son, Douglas, Mrs. C. C. Green of St. Louis, spent a few hours here yesterday as guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sharkey of Avondale street. Her husband, former treasurer of Ohio, is a nephew of Mrs. Sharkey, both having been originally of Salineville.

Green was appointed state treasurer by the late Gov. Harris to fill a vacancy caused by death. He went to Columbus during the tenure in the state treasurer's office of I. B. Cameron, also of Salineville.

Green accompanied Cameron to Lisbon during his treasury days there and was his cashier, a position which he also filled in Columbus. Though he was offered a number of banking positions after his retirement from state office, Green has for many years been the Missouri representative of manufacturers of Belgian tile.

Mrs. Green and her son are en route to her former home in Canton, where they will visit with relatives.

Mrs. J. A. Dimmerling and daughter Lois of College street and Mrs. G. C. McHane of West Ninth street are visiting the former's daughter, Miss Lucille Beatrice Dimmerling, a student at Muskingum college, New Concord.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wentworth of Cleveland are guests of the latter's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Riggs, of Park boulevard.

Community League Entertained.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Emmertling in LaCroft was decorated with Halloween novelties, last night, when members of the Westfield, Sherwood and LaCroft Community league held a social.

Honors for the best costumes were awarded David Parsons and Albert McMillan.

In a cake walk, an award was made to Mr. and Mrs. Hayes Farley.

Music was a diversion. The hostess was assisted in serving refreshments by Mesdames Farley, William Osborne, Walter Bennett and Frank Gregg. Covers were arranged for 60.

A business session will be held in the LaCroft United Presbyterian church Monday night.

COMFORT FOR WOMEN WHO DRIVE

Thousands of women are finding in Oldsmobile those priceless elements of driving comfort so necessary to pleasure and ease of mind in motoring.

There's Oldsmobile's driver's seat, for example... adjustable down to the fraction of an inch, to assure just the right reach to pedals and steering wheel! And a steering wheel that's movable to the exact position for perfect arm comfort and free vision. Clutch and brake pedals are comfortable to operate both because their action is easy and because they are faced with cushions of rubber, assuring a firm "grip."

Gear changing in Oldsmobile is accomplished quickly and quietly... with the tips of the fingers. And the lightest touch on the steering wheel assures perfect control.

Too, Oldsmobile's large, flat, pad-type accelerator enables the driver to accelerate smoothly and confidently... even when high-heeled shoes are worn. Positive-acting four-wheel brakes give a feeling of absolute security.

These splendid performance abilities, combined with the smartness and luxury of Fisher coachwork, round out a motor car that stands, in many respects, as an acknowledgment to the desires and needs of the thousands of women who today drive their own automobiles.

Come in today and let us explain all of Oldsmobile's fine car features of driving comfort. Drive one of these beautiful cars and judge its qualities for yourself. You will know then why so many women are selecting Oldsmobile as the family car, or the car for their own personal use.

And then, in addition to all these features, there is Oldsmobile's famous 62-horsepower engine, assuring a smooth, quiet flow of power for nimble threading of traffic or effortless hill climbing.

LONG AND SHORT OF IT

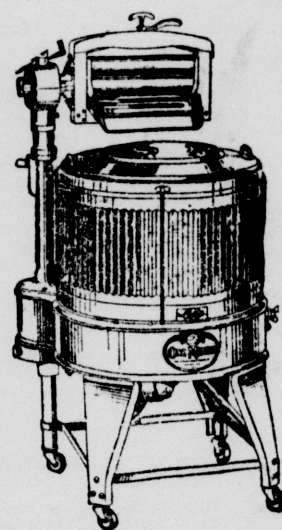

Here are both sides of the question. The latest fashion skirmish between the conservatives and the radical exponents of dress in America to determine the supremacy of the long or short skirt, waxes warm. Here is Miss Gertrude Sheffield, who refuses to accept the mandates of Dame Fashion and still clings to the abbreviated skirt while her two companions attract considerable attention in the "latest from Paris."

Dear Mr. Trotter:

It gave me much pleasure to have on my stage, the One Minute Washer, and there were many women in my audience who seemed particularly interested in it. It seems so necessary to have a washer in every home, that it gives me pleasure to give women the many reasons why the One Minute is so superior to many other washers.

I do hope that your co-operation with us in our school may prove very materially helpful to you and I shall appreciate very much if you will write me a line to our home office which they will forward to me very promptly. Wishing you much success, I am,

Yours very truly,
MRS. FRANCES T. NORTHCROSS.

RUM RING PAYS HEAVY BRIBES

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(INS.)—Heavy bribes—the amounts running as high as $30,000 a week—were passed out for months back to "the right parties" by the North Atlantic liquor syndicate which the federal government has just broken up in simultaneously-executed raids in New Jersey, New York and Long Island. This was disclosed today in the examination of two little black books seized in the raid on the former Oscar Hammerstein estate at Highlands, N. J., occupied by the ring as its "headquarters."

Officials and police in certain New Jersey towns who accepted this graft, face prosecution, Prohibition Administrator William J. Calhoun, generalissimo of the raids, indicated as his sleuths proceeded with their investigation of names on the syndicate's "fix list."

The Japanese government operates nearly 4,500 auto trucks.

WOMAN NAMED IN SHOOTING

Posts Bond After Father of Seven Is Wounded.

PORTSMOUTH, O., Oct. 19.—(INS.)—Mrs. Virgie Phipps, 30, who is alleged to have shot and wounded Eliza Jenkins, 47, the father of seven children, when he refused to leave his wife and children for her, is at liberty under bond today following her surrender to police here.

Mrs. Phipps, for whom there has been a state-wide police hunt, walked into the police station here yesterday, accompanied by her husband, Clayton Phipps, a real estate dealer.

The woman is alleged to have fired a shotgun charge into Jenkins in front of the Phipps home Sept. 26. Jenkins was hit by approximately 50 slugs of the charge. His left eye was shot out.

After the shooting, she walked back into her home, bundled together a few clothes and fled. She had not been seen until her surrender, despite a vigorous police hunt.

TWO GIRLS WILL SEEK AIR MARK

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(INS.)—Two little birdlings, jealous of their eagle brethren, are going to try to remain suspended in space for the longest period of time on record.

They are Elmer Smith and Bobbie Trout and their ambition is matched only by their daring.

On October 28, if the weather permits and other conditions are propitious, the Misses Smith and Trout will take an airplane into the air from Mines field, Los Angeles, and try by night, main and feminine consistency to keep it flying until the 420-hour refueling endurance record of Forest O'Brien and Dale Jackson is surpassed.

The youthful misses—Miss Smith is 18 and Miss Trout 22—have already engaged a crew to pilot their refueling plane and otherwise have completed arrangements for their great adventure.

Brazil is reported to have turned the corner in its business depression and is predicting good times.

"WITCH" SLAYER FOUND GUILTY

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Oct. 19.—(INS.)—"Guilty of murder in the first degree." This was the verdict returned by a jury of 11 men after 14 hours and 12 minutes to decide the fate of Mrs. Pearl Burgess, 53-year-old "witch" slayer.

And now the elderly, sold-out murderess was to spend the rest of her days in prison, because she thought Mrs. Etta Fairchild, who she had murdered with the aid of her husband, Eugene, cast an "evil eye" over her 17-year-old daughter, Eugene. Burgess, driven mad by the consequences of the crime, ended his life in his cell by hanging himself.

THE photographs of baby we make now will be treasured through the coming years.

CHEVROLET SIX

—the Car of Universal Appeal!

SINCE January 1st, over a million one hundred and thirty-five thousand six-cylinder Chevrolets have been produced. Naturally, this is an outstanding industrial achievement. But it is more than that. It is a great public endorsement of Chevrolet's policy of progress: to build a quality automobile whose design incorporates every possible feature of progressive engineering... whose beauty is distinctive, smart and satisfying... whose reliability is assured by fine materials and precision manufacture... and whose price is so low as to be within reach of the great majority of the people. We want you to know what this policy has meant in the development of the Chevrolet Six—the modern car of universal appeal. We want you to know that Chevrolet has brought within the reach of everybody, everywhere, all the advantages of smooth, six-cylinder performance. Come in today!

NAVY REFUSES TO PRODUCE TOKIO "WAR SCARE" REPORT

DEFENSE LOSES MOVE IN FALL BRIBERY TRIAL

"Not Compatible With Public Interest," Answer.

GLEAVES' STORY

Commander Stewart Explains on Witness Stand.

BY GEORGE E. DURNO.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(INS)—The navy department today refused to produce the now famous Japanese "war scare" report of Admiral Albert Gleaves, subpoenaed by the defense in the bribery trial of former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall, on the ground its publication would not be compatible with the public interest.

This is the secret report submitted in 1921 warning of the possibility of an invasion of the United States from the Pacific. The defense wanted it to substantiate its claim that E. L. Doherty, the California oil magnate, leased the Elk Hills naval oil reserve for patriotic reasons after having been told the navy was in dire need of fuel oil and storage facilities at Lathrop.

Fall is charged with having accepted a $100,000 bribe from Doherty in exchange for the lease. Commander Harry Stewart answered the defense subpoena and explained, at the instruction of Secretary of the Navy Adams, that public welfare would be harmed if the Gleaves report were produced.

Woman, 100, Here

erson, John Adams and George Washington.

Her birthplace was what was known as the Red Clay farm in Beaver county, Pa., not far from Hookstown. For many years she attended the famous Service United Presbyterian church. She was one of eight children and a daughter of William Latham and his wife, who, before her marriage, was Anne Fair.

Always Early Riser.
She was married 75 years ago, when 24, to the late Samuel Miller, who died at 74, some 20 years ago. From this union she became the mother of seven daughters, of whom four have died.

Mrs. Miller is remarkably well preserved. She hears quite well, but has been unable to read during the last three years. She has never worried greatly about anything and sleeps well. She has no habits to which she attributes her longevity. She claims to have just taken things as she found them and lived normally.

All her life she has been an early riser.

She has been temperate in her eating, with not much emphasis upon meat, particularly in her later years. Though she did not use coffee, but if it felt the need for tobacco she should go in for a pipe, but cigarettes—never!

Deprecates Short Skirts.
She has suffered several fractures. One of these, her daughters said, constituted a broken back which laid her up for many weeks. She still feels some ill effects from this fall. Now she goes about with a cane.

Reared at a time when ice-cream was practically unknown she is now greatly attracted to it as a food. But in all of her long lifetime she has never tasted chewing gum.

"And I do not approve of girls smoking cigarettes," she confided. "I have never smoked or rubbed snuff, but if I felt the need for tobacco I should go in for a pipe, but cigarettes—never!"

She deprecates the present day tendencies of shortened skirts for girls and women. "If I had my way I should make them a bit longer," she declared.

Recalls First Visit Here
"I can recall killing three or four snakes daily on the way to school when a little girl," she said. "We thought little of such a necessity. They were mostly black snakes, but there were copperheads and rattlers about also. Deer used to come to our door and I have seen many bear in the vicinity of our farm home. I see little difference in life now than then except we did not have so many things as are there now."

All East Liverpool was a forest except Second street when she initially visited it. It was necessary for her to cross the Ohio river with her father in a skiff.

"We danced once for a pastime in our younger years and rode horses," she said. "I guess I was considered a fair rider in my time." Her daughters declared that she had never been thrown from a horse in her youth and some times was known to break horses which three men had to hold until she mounted them.

Visits With Relatives
She laughed when told of a man in a neighboring state who recently reached his hundredth year but who had the custom of going to bed each autumn and remaining in it for the most part until the weather broke in the spring. "Mother does not stay in bed long

TOLEDO GIRL AND ESCORT HELD UP LOSE NOTHING AND REFUSE DRINK

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 19.—(INS)—Miss Ruby Lyons, 25, and her escort, L. H. Gantz, today were recounting their experiences at the hands of four hold-up men, who took nothing and seemed to have a good time while doing it.

The robbers, apparently, had their minds on a bottle and not on a hold-up.

When the men accosted the couple, Miss Lyons unstrapped her wrist watch and offered it to them. The robbers refused it, saying, "We don't rob women."

They took the keys from Gantz' automobile and his pocket-book. Miss Lyons pleaded that it was a long walk home.

The jovial bandits considered the request for the keys and meanwhile pulled out a bottle of liquor.

"Have a drink," one invited.

The couple refused, but the bottle went to the rounds of the robbers.

"Here," said the one who was apparently the leader, "take this." He handed Gantz his keys and his pocketbook. The robbers then sped away, leaving the couple somewhat puzzled.

JUDGES NAME STYLE REVUE QUEEN TONIGHT

"Miss East Liverpool For 1930" to be Chosen.

12 SEEK HONOR

"Miss America" Pays Visit to American Theater.

"Miss East Liverpool for 1930" will be named in the style revue at the American theater at 9 o'clock tonight. Five judges will select the girl who will represent this city at a state style show to be held at Cleveland.

Twelve young women, who are seeking the honor, took part in the revue last night and will appear at the theater again tonight. The contestants will be presented on a circular runway on the stage.

T. Dwight Pepple, promoter of the style revue, was master of ceremonies last night. Miss Edith Devand of Cleveland, present holder of the title "Miss America," personally appeared.

An added attraction tonight will be the appearance of Miss Martha Smith, who won the title of "Miss Steubenville" in a contest staged here this week; Miss Beatrice Norland, runner-up in the Steubenville contest, and Miss Mary Remke, who is "Miss Wheeling." "Miss America" will also appear at tonight's show.

Forest Love

Thrilling story of romance of modern girl

By Hazel Livingston

What Has Gone Before:

Nancy Hollenbeck, young and beautiful, wants to keep her new best-beat, Mat Tully, all to herself. Returning from a ride she leaves him at her door to avoid her mother's questionings and her sister's stares. Later Mrs. Hollenbeck warns Nancy against her own mistake of marrying a poor man. Nancy after a sleepless night decides to follow her mother's advice. She breaks a date with Mat. Louie and Nancy leave for the annual house party of the rich Craigs. Nancy meets Jack Beamer, handsome English sportsman, married to wealth. Mrs. Craig comments, "Louise, Nancy's sister, and Mat discover Beamer ardently embracing Nancy."

Now Go On With the Story.

CHAPTER IV.

It was late when Nancy crept up the stairs, softly. Except for a lamp in the living room and a dim light in the upper hall the house was in darkness; everyone had gone to bed. She had left Beamer, a little self-consciously, downstairs. Everything had happened so much quicker than she had dreamed it could. "He's certainly a fast worker," she smiled to herself in the darkness. Suppose someone found out... Mrs. Craig... mama... but how could they? And besides they hadn't been so wicked... what are a few kisses? And he wasn't living with his wife, hadn't been for over a year.

Downstairs a door closed, cautiously... Jack, on his way out to the sleeping porch where the men slept. With a little fluttering sigh she sat down on the top step to pull herself together before going into the room she shared with Louie. Just like Lou to be wide awake, waiting for her...

Ding, ding, ding. The clock struck, severely, three o'clock. Three o'clock! It couldn't be that late. No wonder the house was so quiet. "In about five hours I'll have to sit opposite him at breakfast, trying to eat, and he remembering... remembering..."

In a sudden revulsion of feeling she pulled a grubby handkerchief out of her pocket and scrubbed furiously at her mouth. A big tear coursed down her cheek, streaking the powder. She gulped, and another fell, and another, and another. Good heavens, she couldn't sit there crying on the steps! Suppose Mrs. Craig should come out into the hall... Oh, I wish we were rich," she whimpered, scuttling down the hall as fast as she could in the dark. "so I could marry the garbage man, or Mat Tully, or anybody I wanted to!"

"Is that you, Nancy?" Louise had her dark head from the pillow and sat up.

"Um—" "You can turn on the light. I'm not asleep."

"I'll be silly. Turn it on." Nancy turned it on and sat down on the floor, her back to the bed, to make off her shoes.

"Nancy, it's after three o'clock." "I know." Elaborately unconcerned, Nancy dropped the other shoes and began leisurely to undress.

"What will the Craigs think? I've been nearly crazy worrying. You must be out of your head, wandering all over the country with that Jack Beamer at night. Do you want to be correspondent in divorce?"

"He's not that dumb, thank you." "No, you're right. There won't be any divorce." Louise's eyes were blazing. He's just having a little amusement at your expense.

CUPID IN AIR

Mrs. Edward J. Snyder, daughter of the French consul general at Guatemala, seen as she alights from a plane at Miami, Fla., to spend her honeymoon. Mrs. Snyder is the wife of Edward J. Snyder, of Texas, chief pilot and flight superintendent of the Mexican division of the Pan-American Airways.

Don't think he'd leave his wife for you. Not he. You ought to be ashamed of yourself necking with him all hours of the morning—you needn't deny it—I saw you, down by the river—"

"Louise Hollenbeck, you spied on me!" Nancy cried, and turned a tear stained, accusing face full on Lou.

"I didn't—I just happened to be there!" And then Louise saw her sister's face, streaked and swollen with weeping. Her heart seemed to stop beating. "He—you—" she couldn't go on.

Nancy began to laugh then. Weakly, wiping her eyes on the nearest thing which happened to be the dress she had just taken off. "I can't help it. You're a laugh!" "I'm glad you think it's funny. His wife won't if she finds out. Neither will mama, and Mrs. Craig. You ought to be ashamed of yourself!" Reassured, Louise was indignant. "Besides, you were crying. There's no use pretending that you weren't. And you were letting that Beamer kiss you... ugh! I don't see how you could!"

Louise sat bolt upright in bed, passing judgment and the culprit paced the floor, back and forth, back and forth, a slim, lovely figure with tousled, burnished hair, and damp eyelashes stuck together in absurd, babyish points.

"After being so crazy about Mat Tully, to turn right around and make love to somebody else, and a married man!"

Nancy wheeled at that, fighting back the tears that would come, in spite of her. "That's right. Rub it in. No matter what I do, I can't get you. It's always the same. Ever since I can remember. Everybody I've liked the family has turned down. Two weeks ago I was all-thrilled about coming up here to the river, 'cause I like Gil Neal and Cary Fleming, and you know it. And then you go and spoil that by telling me that they're only playing around with me, and I so quiet. "In about five hours I'll have to sit opposite him at breakfast, trying to eat, and he remembering... remembering..."

"But, Nan, it's true. Look at Gil now, next thing to engaged to May Belle—"

"I don't care if it is true; you spoiled my whole summer. And then I met Mat Tully, the only wonderful fellow I ever met in my whole life—"

"You can't say I knocked him!" "No, you pounced on him, and dragged him right into the lime-light so mama would start prying and poking the way she does, showing me that he wasn't really anybody and—"

You mean you're giving him up because mama TOLD you to?" Louise couldn't believe it. Her lip curled scornfully. "I'd like to see the family stop me if I ever tell in love!"

"But you're not like me." Nancy was crying in earnest now. "You don't mind washing dishes and having your shoes soiled—"

"No, of course not. I LOVE it!" "And I can't stand it. I wouldn't do it. Not for any man. I'm not going to let life get that way. I've got to have nice things, or I can't be happy. Don't you see? When I marry, I've got to... got to get somebody who can give me things. I've just got to. You don't have to look at me like that. I'm not more honest, that's all. I know what I want. Look how pretty mama was in that wedding picture. She married for love, and she's been left out of everything, and never had any fun. YOU can if you want to. But I won't—not for me!"

Somebody, stirrle in the next room. Squeaking of springs. The floor creaking.

"Shh, you'll wake the whole house," Louise warned. "I can hear somebody now. Besides you'll make yourself sick crying."

"He that. And you haven't told me what made you cry in the first place. It must have been something that Jack Beamer—"

"No, it wasn't. He's a peach, really he is. It's a relief to meet a real honest to goodness man, that knows what he wants, and isn't afraid... of anything. I don't know why I slopped... just everything, I guess."

"Well, don't think about it any more now. It's almost morning. I was a pig to keep you talking so long." Louise, protecting her arm settled around her little sister who talked so cynically, and really didn't mean a word of it...

how could she? Poor dear, chattering about love when she's never been touched by it, when she doesn't even know what it feels like to... to care awful for someone!"

Nancy snuggled closer in the protecting arms. "Good old Lou," she thought, with a sudden rush of pity and affection. "How little she knows! I'm the only practical one in the family. Papa worries, and mama thinks she can make everything lovely by saying it is, and Lou fusses over the bills and harps about people only asking us places because mama was a Peebles and they think they have to, but I'm the only one with sense enough to plan..."

Ding, ding, ding, ding. The clock downstairs, striking four. Four o'clock. She MUST get to sleep, or she'd look a fright in the morning.

With a soft little sigh, like the breath of a tired kitten, she burrowed under the covers again, nestling close to Lou. Good old Lou, whom she might be able to do a lot for, some day, not too far away.

They were both a little self-conscious in the morning. A little uneasy about the revelations of the night before.

"My, I just shut my eyes!" Nancy yawned when the breakfast bell finally roused her. But she hurried, and was downstairs in time to have her fruit with the others, for there was no point in being late, and calling attention to the tardiness of last night.

"Morning!" she beamed at everybody, with a quick look to see if Beamer was there. He was, immaculate and amazingly handsome

"My, I just shut my eyes!" Nancy yawned when the breakfast bell finally roused her. But she hurried, and was downstairs in time to have her fruit with the others, for there was no point in being late, and calling attention to the tardiness of last night.

"Morning!" she beamed at everybody, with a quick look to see if Beamer was there. He was, immaculate and amazingly handsome

With a soft little sigh, like the breath of a tired kitten, she burrowed under the covers again, nestling close to Lou. Good old Lou, whom she might be able to do a lot for, some day, not too far away.

BRITAIN'S HUGE DIRIGIBLE PROVES IT CAN FLY

Doubt has been removed from the minds of the skeptics who for the past month have been claiming that the R-101, Great Britain's new airship, was a failure. The huge 100-passenger craft has met all tests required of it and it is not unlikely that in the very near future she will wend her way across the Atlantic to pay a visit to the United States.

PROS TO BATTLE YOUNGSTOWN EAGLES HERE

Weighty Elevens To Clash

Both Face Sunday Tilt With Clean Records.

A COUPLE of half-ton consignments of football brawn will collide tomorrow afternoon at Sherwood park at 3 o'clock.

From one end of the field will come rumbling down the Youngstown Eagles and from the other the East Liverpool Pros and the glory of conquest alone will be the stake.

The undefeated Pros and the equally successful Mahoning county combine will battle it out and some one appears slated to leave the arena with a besmudged eschecheon.

The Pros will send out a top notch eleven with a line averaging, according to advance statements, 185 to 190 pounds. The backfield quartet will make probably 175.

And this, apparently, will be matched pound for pound by the visitors.

Strategy May Tell.

As a result it may be strategy, the running of Halpatie and Finley, the passing of English, or the line battering of Fullback Jones that may decide the outcome.

George Mundy of the old Toronto Tigers, or Phillips, from the Burns A. A., of New Kensington, will start at left end. "Monk" Lee, a local sandlot product will be at the other flank.

Hinkle, Thorne and Bell are slated for work at the tackles, and this is one job on a football team where work is work. Hinkle is a former Toronto high school star with a year's experience at West Virginia Wesleyan. He'll scale around 200, and project into the atmosphere for a height of better than six feet.

Thorne is a Chester lad and Bell comes from the Burns club.

Richard, Boso and Smith, all local boys, await duties at the guards.

Pickard or Kinsey will get the starting call at the pivot post. Pickard hails from Wellsburg. He played football at West Virginia U., and there's 195 pounds of him. Kinsey, a local boy, has been playing a great game at the midway point to date.

Paul English of Glenville Normal will call the signals with Chappie Finley, Newell, and Rudy Halpatie, formerly with Toronto high school and the Tigers, at the halves.

YOUNG AT 67

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—Sixty-seven is the age of the University of Chicago's veteran football coach, A. A. Stagg. He isn't young. But he isn't old, he told members of the inter-fraternity club recently at their luncheon.

Furthermore, Mr. Stagg does not want to get old. He has no desire to reach 100, or even 90. What he terms "so-called old age" has no lure for him.

Age, as he reckons it, is not a matter of years, but of achievements. "I want to live while I am living," he said. "I want to remain in complete possession of all my powers."

"I want," said the man who has been coaching Chicago's football team since the university was founded, "to be able to work as long as I live."

Retire? Mr. Stagg wouldn't think of it. "I have no intention of letting up," he said, "and just floating along."

"Do something all your life," was his advice to the members of the club, many of whom have long since passed their college days. Keeping busy and approaching "so-called old age" gracefully were the points he emphasized.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—The Bears were to be put on the third episode of their serial with Pennsylvania before upward of 75,000 rabid easterners and, with the finish of the game, the invaders' troubles merely will be starting.

This game won't be the end of the long trail for California; it will be the beginning of another, and perhaps longer one, the finish of which may or may not be reached even when the 1929 season is no more. In the two weeks between October 12 and October 26, this team is playing three games and traveling 6,000 miles for the privilege of doing so. The Bears, in brief, seem to be doing their road work to and from their football games.

Eastern Prestige at Stake. Today's affair was to be their first venture east of the Rockies and they were making it a notable one. In all the east coast football had been played during the current generation, no team ever before had had the temerity to do its long-distance visiting as a casual part of the season. Therefore, if success rides with California today—and the Bears were a very short price in the betting—eastern prestige will be taken for a ride again.

Odds ranging as high as 3 to 1 this morning said they would do it, too. The Bears, largely a veteran outfit except at the tackles, were figured to have too much savvy for a Pennsylvania team that had had more than its share of poignant moments in outlasting P. and M. S. Swarthmore and Virginia Polytechnic in this game under the lights.

In fact, this didn't appear to be a typical Pennsylvania team at all, an impression that perhaps had been heightened by the fact that the coaches ordained a change in the offense this season. They had been using the hidden ball attack for some years. This, it seemed, had been largely discharged for 1929. They no longer are hiding the ball and are beginning to hide the touchdowns.

It will be just too bad if they start hiding them today, for California, with the renowned Benny Lom flitting about in the backfield and a good line to screen his activities, figured to score at least once and perhaps twice before the end of the afternoon.

Penn Tired of Drubbings. The Bears, in fact, were said to be almost as good as the team that had to have Roy Riegels run 70 yards for the other side before it could lose the national title last year. Riegels was back in the center of the line today as captain of this outfit and promised to stay in his own line when running with the ball, so the Bears looked no worse than a very sound bet for this ball game.

They will have two things against them. The other one is Pennsylvania. This team is always dangerous but never so much so as when the monotony of defeat begins toirk the boys. They have been well irked by California, which won in 1925 by a couple of touchdowns and, two years later, repeated by a score of 27 to 13. Both games were played at Berkeley. It may turn out to be important that this one will be played almost 3,000 miles distant from that garden spot of the west.

Pennsylvania is outweighed today. It probably will be outsmarted, both in and out of the line. But that doesn't say that it will be outscored. This doesn't happen very often on any field. It happens even less than that when the field is its own.

A fighting-mad Pennsylvania team is one of the obvious things against California today. The other is its trans-continental journey. If it licks both of them, it won't be necessary to admit that the better team won. For, in this case, the better team will be so much better than an admission of any kind will become superfluous.

AT NEW YORK—Tony Canzoneri, New York, won a twelve-round decision over Johnny Farr, Cleveland.

Gene Hoffman, New York, scored a technical knockout in the tenth round over Ad' Warren, North Carolina heavyweight.

Nick Testa, Troy, New York, won a ten round decision from Pal Silvers, Brownsville, N. Y.

AT BOSTON—K. O. Christner, heavyweight of Akron, won a ten round decision from Ernie Schaaf, Boston.

AT TORONTO—Eugene Huat, France, knocked out Albert (Frenchy) Belanger Canadian flyweight, in the sixth round (10).

Denison Tackles Hefty. Denison has but three men on its football squad who weigh 180 pounds. All are tackles. They are William Wiley, Cambridge, 185 pounds; George Piply, Youngstown, 197 pounds; and Lloyd Runkle, Philippi, W. Va., 210 pounds.

Eastern Prestige At Stake

Penn Defense Awaits Invaders From Coast.

By DAVIS J. WALSH
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 19.—Determined to do it the hard way, a university of California team, traveled and alone in a strange land, was to play its big inter-sectional game of the year at Franklin field this afternoon, thus taking the rap on the coast to coast trip right in the middle of a furious football season instead of at the end, as custom heretofore had dictated.

The Bears were to be put on the third episode of their serial with Pennsylvania before upward of 75,000 rabid easterners and, with the finish of the game, the invaders' troubles merely will be starting.

FACE MUSKIES IN BIG GAME

MARIETTA, O., Oct. 19.—Nine lettermen from the past two years form the nucleus of the 1929 Marietta college football team which will clash with Muskingum college here on October 26th. It is the feature event of the annual Marietta college homecoming celebration.

These lettermen around whom Coaches Duke Hayes and Don Drumm have moulded their gridiron machine are: Link Schmidt of New York, end; Paul Wilson of Bridgeport, Ohio, end; Harold Latimer of Richardsfield, Ohio, end; Capt. Joe Woods of Sharon, Pa., center; John Daymont of Utica, N. Y., guard; Clarence Kennedy of Canton, Ohio, tackle; Dean Northrup, McConnellsville, Ohio, halfback; Edwin Weber, St. Marys, W. Va., halfback; Orren Farren, St. Marys, W. Va., fullback.

New Pug To Tackle Pizzone

Kid Clendenning Threatens Slugger's Honors.

"POISON," the puncher, Pizzone, of Wellsville, head man of the district bantamweights by virtue of might, as well as a darned good right, and it might be added, a left to make it unanimous, will take his laurels for another ailing next Thursday night in a prelim number on the Valley A. C. bill at Wellsville.

"Poison," Permagangne Pizzone has established himself as sapper wielder of his division in this sector without the least semblance of doubt.

No one can consistently doubt a string of knockouts. Accompanying Pizzone on his little stroll next Thursday night will be "Kid" Clendenning, hope of the East End.

Only one of them is going to come back, as we machine gunners say in a joking way, and in a pugilistic sense, or nonsense of course. Billed As Puncher.

Kid Clendenning carries a recommendation as a puncher. Most of them do until Pizzone beats them to it. But this Clendenning chap is really supposed to have something a little better than the average.

And if he has, the door of opportunity is wide open for him. Pizzone's defense is still unborn. It consists largely of determination and a stout chin. When the other bird gets through pecking at him, Pizzone starts to slugging.

A good boxer will outpoint Pizzone every time he steps into the ring with him, but apparently there is none here with that qualification, or at least, he has not appeared. And a lad who can take care of the incoming freight and do a little sending himself will have more than an even chance.

However, it's hard to dope Pizzone. One sock and he can upset the calculations, and the other guy.

Can Pizzone Take It? He has not yet, however, been compelled to "take it". No one has been able to shellack his ruddy countenance with any degree of consistency. When that someone pops up then Pizzone will face the real test.

WITH REDLEGS

Dan Howley (left), formerly pilot of the St. Louis Browns, has just signed a contract to manage the Cincinnati Reds in 1930. The Reds also announced the outright purchase of Harry Heilmann, (right), slugging outfielder, from Detroit.

In the ring, but it is not believed with deliberate intent. His pugilistic schooling has been somewhat limited. All he knows is swing and sock, and his technique is effective, if not polished, in this branch of the pugilistic curriculum.

All Clendenning has to do is block Pizzone's swings and then punch him on the button. If Clendenning can hit hard enough, he has a chance of winning.

Clendenning has been working out with Freddy Edwards at the Y. M. C. A. and expects to face Pizzone in fairly good condition. He has had three or four fights in the last couple of seasons and appears the part of a good right hand puncher.

This number will go four rounds as a preliminary on the card which headlines T. N. T. Gibbons, Canton, and Mickey Solomon, the New Castle boy.

BLAKE LAUNCHES CAMPAIGN TO REDUCE SCAFFOLD ACCIDENTS

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 19.—(INS)—Inaugurating a campaign designed to reduce the number of accidents resulting from faulty scaffolds, Will T. Blake, state director of industrial relations, today announced the appointment of John D. Manly, of Darberton, as a scaffold inspector in the state division of factory and building inspection.

Manly, 35, is a building contractor. At its last session, the Ohio legislature authorized appointment of inspectors. Two are yet to be appointed.

"The number of accidents caused by negligence in constructing scaffolds is surprising," said Blake. "It is the plan of the state to take adequate steps, through personal inspection, with a view to preventing these as much as possible."

CHURCH PLANS HOMECOMING

Christian Congregation to Hear Dr. I. J. Cahill.

Annual homecoming exercises of the First Christian church will be held tomorrow in the church auditorium with services scheduled for morning, afternoon and night.

An address by Dr. I. J. Cahill, Cleveland, superintendent of missions for the Ohio State Missionary society, looms as the high spot in the day's activities although the entire program presents a well balanced aspect.

Services open with Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. when special recognition will be accorded visitors and friends of the church from out of town.

Morning worship and communion service will be held at 11 a. m. when Dr. Cahill will speak. A large group of new members will be received at this service.

Public baptismal service will be held in the afternoon at 3 o'clock.

A pageant, "Though Your Sins Be as Scarlet, They Shall Be as White as Snow," will be presented at 7:30 p. m. Special lighting effects will be employed.

Misses Hilda Leake and Marie Headley will be the soloists, with Miss Kathryn McBane at the organ.

A. M. E. PASTOR IS RETURNED

The Rev. M. L. Gordon, pastor of the A. M. E. church here, has been returned to the local charge by the annual Lorain conference.

District Elder William Truss will speak Sunday morning.

AMERICAN YOUTH SPEAKER HERE

R. A. Walte, of the American Youth Foundation, will speak at services tomorrow morning and night in the First Presbyterian church here.

Mr. Walte will also teach the men's class in the Sunday school.

When You Shop Best

Around the holiday times you read a great deal about "Shop early in the week—early in the day." It's a good practice to pursue not only at Christmas time but throughout the year. Shopping early in the morning (before eleven) enables you to shop more deliberately and more satisfactorily. Merchandise is in better order, clerks are more alert and you, yourself, are in a fresher frame of mind—stocks, clerks and patrons are all subject to the stress of a strenuous day as evening approaches.

It's good too, to shop early in the week! Invariably new stocks are put on the counters early in the week to replenish the purchasers of week-end heavy selling. You get first choice of the newer, fresher, things when you shop "early in the week—early in the day."

ATWATER KENT SCREEN-GRID RADIO

"What will it do?" Let you roam the air at will, over a wide, wide range. Bring in the programs clearly, with power that fairly leaps with seven-league boots to do your bidding. Separate the stations with needle-point precision. Only a Screen-Grid radio as finely built as this Atwater Kent could do so much—and keep on doing it.

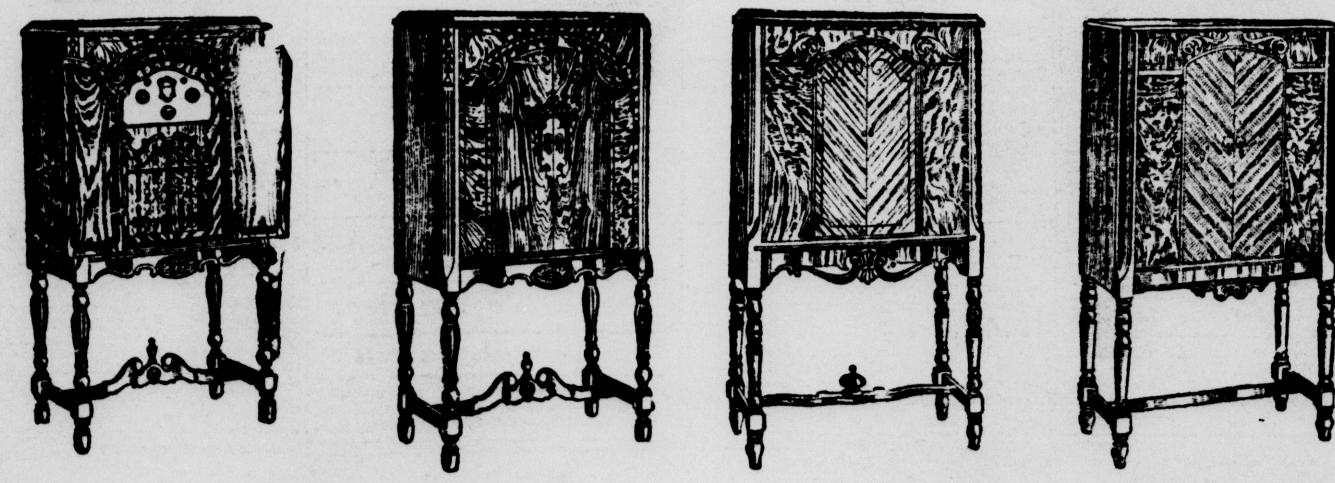

On the Air: Atwater-Kent Mid-Week program, Thursday Evenings, 10:00 (Eastern Standard Time), WJZ network of N. B. C.

SCREEN-GRID

"How does it sound?" You are the best judge. Listen! Every bit of light and shadow in the music, every inflection of a speaker's voice, comes to you. In the whole world of radio there is no purer, richer, truer tone than that of the Atwater Kent Screen-Grid Set. "Perfection" is a much abused word—but isn't this it?

On the Air: Atwater-Kent Radio Hour, Sunday Evening, 9:15 (Eastern Standard Time), WEAF network of N. B. C.

SCREEN-GRID

"How does it look?" See for yourself the cabinets that more than a score of furniture makers, famous for sound design and sincere workmanship, are producing expressly for Atwater Kent Screen-Grid Radio. You have a variety of choice such as radio has never offered before. . . . There's a compact table model, too, if you prefer.

Write for illustrated booklet of Atwater Kent Radio

SCREEN-GRID

"What does it cost?" Only what a good radio should cost, and that, when it's an Atwater Kent, is a very moderate sum. It would be much higher if we made only a few sets. But the great demand for Atwater Kent Radio (over 2,500,000 sold in seven years) has built the largest radio factory in the world and made a really fine radio easy to buy.
